WHY RACING IS NECESSARY

FEDERAL OFFICIAL AT WASHINGTON POINTS OUT HOW BREEDING IS BENEFITED.

Chief of the Division of Animal Husbandry of the Department of Agriculture Calls Attention to Relation of Racing to National Defense.

Washington, D. C., January 2.—George M. Remmell, chief of the division of animal husbandry of the Department of Agriculture, in an interview given to The New York Herald, calls attention to the direct and important relation of horse racing to the national defense. Mr. Rommell, who is a recognized authority on the subject of breeding, and who has no interest in racing beyond its influence in developing the thoroughbred, said the thoroughbred is indispensable in any country which requires cavalry in its national defense. Mr. Rommell said:

"The experience of foreign armies shows that the department is correct in planning to pay due attention to the thoroughbred in its plan to selve the army remount problem in the United States. Horses with more or less thoroughbred blood are found as troop horses in every European army, and are now being purchased by our remount officers. Practically every European army officer rides an Irish hunter, a half-bred horse or better. The New York mounted police ride horses which are of trotting and thoroughbred blood, and so it goes.

"The effect of racing on the thoroughbred has been and is exactly the same as its effect on the standard bred horse. Racing made and maintains the breed. Without running races the English people would never have had their wonderful thoroughbreds, and without trotting races the American peoplewould never have had their magnificent standard-breds. If racing is stopped the breeding of horses stops, for the incentive to breed is removed.

"The severe campaigning to which a race horse is subjected develops in time endurance, stanfina, good wind and sound feet and legs as breed diarteristics, for the horse that can go the page is one which leaves the impress on the breed; the valuable not only as a sire of race horses, had been and in his vein; etc., and it is for this reason matracing does indeed improve the breed of horses, A handsome horse which can go through a racing caver winning race after race and then retire to the 4nd as sound as when he first steppe

Nine Carloads Arrive from Columbia Sooner Than Expected and Embarass Management

Expected and Embarass Management.

Charleston, S. C., January 2.—Rapid stides towards completion of the plant here were maic today when the "Culebra Cut." as a big fill gar the three-furlongs post is facetiously termed, was nearly completed. One more day will witness its completion and the management's anxiety will be dspensed with, for with the completion of the fill to other necessities will become matters of minor deail and the opening will take place as per schedule in January 10. The opening will see many rough pots, at that, but the finlshing tonches can be put in while the meeting is in progress. The most important unfinished item after the opening will be he ack of paint on the plant.

Nine carloads of racers arrived unexpecedly today from Columbia and their arrival gave he management some concern, as arrangements or their housing had not been completed. They were taken care of in stalls that have been reserved by others that were expected. The rapidity with which the horses are beginning to come here is causing some concern, for the erection of the stalls is not keeping pace with the arrivals. The Benning consignment is due here on Thursday next and will include those owned by W. P. Burch, Dr. J. S. Tyred Capt, F. M. Walker and Harry Shannon. The shipment will number over sixty horses. The Norfolk shipment also number nearly one hundred horses, I due here by Saturday next and will include the horses of the Beverwyck Stable, Eugene Moyne, V. Martin, John Duffy and others. The Kentucky ontingent will require a big special train and will include many good racers that have been resting 1 the blue grass section since the close of the Laton meeting. Those owned by R. F. Carman and William Karrick's lot, now at Alken, S. C., are expected here within the next few days.

Some 1.100 horses are expected to be 6 hand for some part of the meeting, and of this hunber 750 laye already had stable space assigned the.

There will be no dearth of good ridik material here, according to report. Those already on the ground

HOW DIRECTORS' LIABILITY LAW WORKS.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., January — At a meeting of the executive committee of the butchess County Agricultural Society a letter frot Jacob Ruppert was read notifying the society at the Hudson River Driving Park, of which Mr Ruppert is the owner, could no longer be used to the annual fair unless horse-racing, both trotting al running, shall be discontinued. Mr. Ruppert bash his refusal to renew the lease of the driving pai on the ground that existing laws against racing in the State of New York would make him criminly liable for any violation of the provisions which prohibit public betting, and this liability he decked to assume. The society is one of the oldest at strongest fair associations in the state, having bn organized in 1849. Reginald W. Rives is the psident.

RACING STATISTICS OF THE YEAR 1911

As a racing year 1911 was not without its good features. One in particular was the establishment of modern, up-to-date plants at Lagoon, near Salt Lake City, and Coeur d'Alene, just across the Idaho border line close to Spokane. These new ventures, supplemented by the usual meetings at Butte and Anaconda, elevated the mountain circuit to a position of greatly augmented importance and gave steady and profitable cupployment to a large contingent of owners, trainers, riders, stable help and horses. The communities catered to supported the sport loyally and it is to be expected that the mountain circuit tracks will do even better in 1912. Another item of importance was the construction of the new racing plant at Laurel, Maryland. The meeting held there in the late autumn was largely patronized from Baltimore and Washington and, in spite of decidedly liberal distribution of money in stakes and purses, was highly profitable. This track has a large population to draw from and promises to take the place on the racing map formerly held by the Benning track.

The hoped-for re-establishment of racing over the great New York tracks did not occur. At one time it appeared almost certain that the New York Legislature would pass the measure of relief, awaiting its action, but in the long run spiteful opposition and ignoble considerations of policy and politics prevailed and the officials of the tracks kept their gates closed. The most deplorable attendant result was not so much in the fact that great communities were deprived of the pleasure of viewing an extremely popular sport as in the other fact that a number of leading breeders became discouraged and shipped hundreds of splendid broodmares and stallions to other countries for sale at auction to the irreparable injury of our own braceding interests. Possibly the next New York Legislature to meet will act favorably in the matter, but it is doubtful. Meanwhile the track officials are plucky and hopeful and have announced and closed great stakes to be run in future years.

REPORT OF KENTUCKY STATE RACING COM-MISSION GOES TO LEGISLATURE.

Opinion Expressed That Racing Is Now More Popular and Better Patronized in Kentucky Than Ever Before.

Lexington, Ky., January 2.—The third biennial report of the Kentucky State Racing Commission to the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Keutucky was laid by Secretary J. Pelham Johnston upon the desks of the members of the Legislature when it convened in Frankfort today.

After reviewing its action in various directions for the government of racing in Kentucky during the "It is believed that racing in Kentucky is more popular and better attended than it ever has been, and that it is regarded by the public in general as cleaner and free from many faults and practices which marred it in the past, and these reports have gone out to the other states from which many inquires have come to the Commission for information as to how racing is conducted here and many requires have come to the Commission for information as to how racing is conducted here and many requires have come to the Commission for information as to how racing is conducted here and many requires have come to the Commission of any great distance have been run, and for years the races have been tests of speed alone, and were not a criterion by which the stamina of our horses could be judged. Daingerfield, of this Commission, conceived the idea of renewing the old long distance races which was the 'sport of kings' and sew here racher really was the 'sport of kings' and sew here racher really was the 'sport of kings' and seven racher really was the 'sport of kings' and seven racher and the real such a race would renew public interest in racing, and give a greater incentive to breeding along lines which would make horses of greater utility, and especially for the purposes of the government in its cavality and artillery, decided to give a four-powers of endurance, and the Commission, believing that such a race would renew public interest in racing, and give a greater incentive to breeding along lines which would make horses of greater utility, and especially for the purposes of the government in its cavality and artillery, decided to give a four-p

NO FRICTION EXPECTED AT LOUISVILLE.

Decision to Race at Two Tracks Said to Have Been Amicably Reached-Dates Virtually Agreed On.

Louisville, Ky., January 2.—It is understood that Col. M. J. Winn, representing the New Louisville Joekey Club, and John Hachmeister, representing the Douglas Park Jockey Club, have practically reached an agreement as to the racing dates that they will ask the Kentucky State Racing Commission to assign to their respective tracks, following their decision not to renew the pooling agreement under which the interests of the two associations were merged and racing was conducted only at Churchill Downs. The Kentucky State Racing Commission will meet in the near future and it is expected that Messrs. Winn and Hachmeister will appear to explain the points that still remain at issue. It has been agreed, subject to the approval of the commission that there will be spring and fall meetings at each of the Louisville tracks, and it is understood that the dates to be asked will not exceed in the aggregate the total number of days that racing has been conducted at Louisville under the pooling arrangement. It is announced that the best of feeling exists between the organizations that control the two tracks. The plans contemplate liberal stake two tracks. The plans contemplate liberal stake offerings at both tracks.

RACING STRING OF J. E. DAVIS.

New York, January 2.—Joseph E. Davis will have twelve horses to carry his green and black colors in 1912. Of this collection, seven are two-year-olds that were purchased in Kentucky. The juveniles are stabled on the Lexington course, where they were broken by James P. Ross. While the band has not been set down for trials against the watch, their manner of galloping is indicative of quality. Trainer Ross is pleased with the individuality and breeding of the youngsters. The brother to Etherial is a colt of magnificent proportions, tracing to a family noted for producing winners. While he is a big colt he shows no grossness, and it is reasonable to expect him to race well.

The rest of Mr. Davis' younger division have the tearmarks of rattling good horses, and they will be prepared for the races to be run at Pimlico track in the spring.

of the youngsters. The brother to Etherial is a colt of magnificent proportions, tracing to a family noted for producing winners. While he is a big toe xpect him to race well.

The rest of Mr. Davis' younger division have the earmarks of rattling good horses, and they will be prepared for the races to be run at Pimlico track in the spring.

Mr. Davis, who is an accomplished cross-country rider, is a strong devotee of steeplechasing, and he will be represented in this branch of racing next season by Firestone, Lone Ben and Zellwood. The three horses destined for cross-country racing are now at Alken. S. C. in charge of Matthew Brady, who handled Mr. Davis' horses at the hunt meetings during the past two seasons. Robert Walden is training Himation and Royal Meteor for Mr. Davis, The latter has been gelded recently.

For the third year in succession, the honor of heading the list of American money-winning owners fell to S. C. Hildreth. Mr. Hildreth's total compared poorly with his showing of the previous year. In 1910 his horses won $152,645, while his winnings for 1911 aggregated only $47,473. J. W. Schorr. R. T. Wilson and R. F. Carman follow Mr. Hildreth in the order named. The thirty leaders of the year are as follows:

1911. $47.473 38,588 37,401 35,447 27,271 27,213 26,765 24,480 24,100 20,795 19,668 19,070 18,734 18,734 17,162 16,690 16,620 16,349 16,325 15,684

H. C. Hallenbeck's crack two-year-old colt, Worth, heads the list of the money-winning horses of 1911. His record of $16,645 won illustrates the limited opportunity that a good racer had during the year when compared with the $72,630 that Novelty won as the leading winner of the preceding year. Governor Gray, now dead, finished a close second to Worth, with S. C. Hildreth's Zeus and P. S. P. Randolph's Plate Glass third and fourth respectively. Following is the record of the thirty leading money-winning horses of the year:
